Little Ladies by Tami Jones of Hometown Quilt Company

My business has been in the making since 2002...I had a little fella and began hoarding all of the things he had worn, and soon I had a situation that had to be dealt with ... too many clothes and not enough space. At this point, I had been sewing for years and thought, ‘I bet I can make him a memory quilt from his baby clothes’ and it turned out as good as a first memory quilt ever could. But now all these years later, I've made hundreds of custom quilts, memory quilts, and t-shirt quilts for nieces, nephews, friends, graduates, babies, quilts in memory of lost loved ones and too many to admit for myself!

After more than 20 years quilting, I'm ecstatic to share my first fabric collection, Little Ladies. The prints were inspired by my twin girls and the happiness they've brought to me and my family.

I hope you'll use fabrics from my Little Ladies collection with Andover Fabrics to make quilts and projects that bring joy to you and your family!

Super Social!

Online, I teach quilters and sewists how to sew the way my grandmother taught me. My DIY, step-by-step approach is geared toward beginners, but also appreciated by people who have been sewing for decades. My projects include quilts, seasonal gifts, home decor, and even tutorials to encourage children to sew.
